Arts & Crafts Police To Sponsor Exhibit Set Well-Known Band For March 4

The Elba Rescue Squad will sponsor an Arts and Crafts Exhibit on Sunday, March 4, 1979, from 1 to 5 p.m., at the Elba Elementary School cafeteria.

All artists and craftsmen of the area are invited to participate in this event, and let their work be publicized.

Entry fees are as follows: Adults - $2.00; High School students - $1.00 (Space 6 x 8 ft.); Elementary students - 50¢ (Space 3 x 4 ft.).

Entry blanks may be picked up at Mary Louise's Art Gallery, Craft Hut, both banks and the schools.

The public is invited to this event.

For more information, call 897-2841, 897-6246, 897-2805. Donations will be received at the door for the Rescue Squad.

The concert is being sponsored by the Elba Police Department, and admission is only $2 per person.

The Lower Forty Grass, a Montgomery-based group, is a very versatile musical group that plays bluegrass, country, pop, light rock, or whatever the audience wants to hear! The band started as a group of friends getting together to play music, then turned to performing on a part-time basis, and is now known nationwide as a top musical group.

The group has released three albums, with their initial two LP's being the top-selling albums in Montgomery over the past 12 months. While on tour across the nation, the Lower Forty Grass has appeared with such nationally-known artists as Jim Ed Brown, Hank Williams, Jr., The Kentucky Headhunters, Jerry Clower, Ronnie McDowell and Charlie Pride.

The Elba concert will mark the end of a busy month for the musicians. During February, they have toured Texas and North Alabama, and opened "Country U.S.A." a night club in Montgomery.

"The concert in Elba will be something special for me," said Roger Boothe, "because I'm coming home. The first time I ever sang in front of an audience was on the stage in Elba when I was a senior at Elba High at a Miss Elba contest. It'll be great to be home again!"

Boothe, a former policeman in Elba, is the founder of the group and plays upright bass, sings lead and bass. "I want all my friends to come out," added Boothe, "and we'll all have a good time!"

Holley Urged To Support Library Share Of "Pie"

Public libraries are dependent upon the state legislature for funding and information in the form of a pie, showing how the money is divided. It was ideally divided with libraries getting a double size wedge of pie.

Presented each member of the Legislature with a "Tax Pie". Along with the actual pie prepared by Mrs. Oswald Dowling, Representative Holley was given information in the form of a pie, showing how the money is divided. It was ideally divided with libraries getting a double size wedge of pie.

Elba Files For $1/2 Million Grant

The City of Elba filed a pre-application for a "Small Cities" Community Development Block Grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) on February 12, 1979.

A grant of $500,000 was again requested to be used to construct storm drainage and reconstruct roads in the McHenry Heights area, to upgrade the public health and safety.

The city should be advised in May 1979 if Elba has been selected to file a full application.

If this advice is received, Elba is almost sure of receiving the grant.

Council Concerned Over Leaking

The Elba City Council held a short meeting Tuesday night, adjourning within an hour of the time they convened at 7 p.m. All members were present and voting on the routine business presented to the city fathers.

The first order of business was a discussion with representatives of the local Masonic Lodge. They discussed the status of the many leaks in the two-story building occupied by the city and the masons. The council members were told by Worshipful Master Jerry Chandler and other Masonic officers that they had buckets sitting around upstairs to catch the water. They apologized for getting some bids on the repairs and discuss the project at the next meeting.

Police Chief Max Rayborn reported everything was running smoothly in his department. Mayor Folsom reported that work on the levee and hauling of dirt to the recreation department softball diamonds was also running according to schedule.

The Council approved a resolution to allow the Mayor and city clerk to borrow the necessary $143,770 needed to renovate the old national guard armory.

Folsom also reported on the projected cost of $25,000 to $30,000 for a new city garbage truck. The Council will prepare specifications and seek bids on a new truck. Folsom also noted he was checking prices on all metal buildings to use as a shop at the city barn.

Councilman Jimmy Wise noted that this newspaper had recently commended Councilman Cleo Hawkins for the fine job he was doing as free gratis work for the water and sewer department and wanted the Council to be on record to show its appreciation to Hawkins also.

Councilmen Sharpless, Russell and English joined with Mayor Folsom in expressing their thanks to Hawkins. City Clerk vehicles were in a better state of repair.

A discussion was held on the need for a new motor in the Ford Police Car or a replacement. The nutrition program is using one of the economy cars purchased for the police department and it was agreed for the Mayor and Police Chief to work out something to use this vehicle in emergencies until a promised grant is received to buy a 15 passenger van for the nutrition program.

Folsom ended the meeting with a warning that the City "is deeply obligated to the hospital, schools, etc. and we need to really watch our funds."

Wise suggested that the city erect signs on each of the highways entering Elba welcoming people to town. Folsom suggested that the Council work with local groups and plan some form of welcome for the new commanding general at Ft. Rucker.

POTHOLE PATCHING was underway recently in Elba as City crews take advantage of a break in the wet weather to patch a few of the many potholes that have broken open during recent months.

Industrial Development Was Theme Of Meeting

Representatives of the Alabama Development Office, Southeastern Alabama Regional Development Office (SEARDO) met in Elba, Thursday the afternoon with representatives of the Elba Industrial Board, City Council, news media, hospital and school officials as well as other interested citizens.

The meeting was put together by Industrial Board Chairman Bob English, who opened the meeting and turned the discussion over to Bill Cathel of SEARDO. He told how his organization worked to develop the seven county area and what they could do for Elba. He pointed out that they had just worked with Elba City officials in preparing an application for a massive drainage project to be funded with a 1/2 million dollar federal grant. Also explained to the group was ways of working with state and federal agencies to get other facilities.

Curtis Sumrell of ADO told the group Governor James was committed to industrial development and had instructed ADO personnel to work with the communities through Cathel's office.

Following the afternoon meeting the visiting officials met with the members of the industrial board for a cat-fish dinner and a two hour discussion on the nuts and bolts of industrial development. They were told that the first step to industrial development was to assure a good working relationship with the present industry and then to seek industry that was compatible with present industry or better still one that manufactured materials used by present industry.

BOB ENGLISH

BRAINSTORMS

With Fern Cox

Recently George Meany, the crusty union leader said something a bunch of folks really agree with... he was knocking President Carter, and made some remark about wishing he had the Harry Truman around to support. We agree totally. Truman never lost a battle because he was hunting a peace treaty to keep from hurting someone's feelings - he just said what was on his mind and said it plainly. Today we could use some of that, locally, nationally and internationally. "Ole Harry wouldn't let folks kidnap our Marines in Iran and get away with it. He wouldn't let our ships be taken over by the enemy without doing something, and everyone knew that fact."

Saturday, ye ole editor was at a press convention in Mobile and Governor James was there as speaker for one of the meetings. My publisher friend, Jim Oakley, of Gulf Shores, is always cracking jokes, but a more serious (?) publisher passed him a note not to crack any jokes. Now, ole Jim was at the speaker's platform when he read the note out loud, but took it in stride... he announced this meant the Governor's speech was cancelled! Governor James laughed as hard as anyone, either at the wisecrack, or at his knowledge that his turn was next. Oakley caught the bait, however, when James acknowledged that Jim was playing to Hollywood talent scouts, and after that performance the Hollywood types had walked out in the middle of the meeting. If the two had not been friends, an observer would have thought they were going to get mad, but they didn't.

James addressed several items of interest to newspaper publishers and the other people of Alabama. When he got to state prisons, he first stated he knew nothing about running a prison. He also said that after reading Judge Johnson's order on the prison system, he could not disagree with any of it. Then, when he got around to talking about the location of new prisons, James explained he would do a study, find the best locations and THEN inform the elected officials of the chosen county of the decision. He didn't say anything about asking if they wanted the facility.

We got to Mobile Friday afternoon in time to see an early evening Mardi Gras parade. The wind was making a stir a little nippy, so we went back upstairs and watched it from our sixth floor window. You don't hear the music as well, don't get any of the goodies thrown from floats, etc., but neither do you get pushed, cold or hidden behind a crowd.

Tuesday was the big day to sign the petition for moving the courthouse to Enterprise. We didn't make it to sign up during the regular hours, and they didn't wait for us, so we ain't going to give them our courthouse now! Seriously, we hear that the sign-up was from a success, and we predict that when the promoters of the project get a clear view of the situation, they will realize it is hopeless.

Enterprise Ledger publisher caught us in an error in our recent proposal that we just go ahead and build two new courthouses, starting with Enterprise first. He noted it would take 40 or 50 years to pay for the one in Enterprise! Well, we didn't realize he had plans for a monument to - well, someone, nor did we remember that in the City of Enterprise we can't qualify for that cheap 2% interest loan that is available in Elba, New Brockton or Kinston. Sorry, Roy, but we will try to do better next time.

The Enterprise Chamber of Commerce didn't take an active part on the proposal to move the county seat. The reason expressed by several merchants was that they didn't want to hurt their business. During the last several days, however, we have heard some comments of just what they feared... people refusing to do business "if that is the way they want to act." One man said he was going to get the list and find out what merchants or their employees were working on the petition. We hope this is a passing attitude, because there are so many things we need to work on as a united county. Maybe the Enterprise Chamber folks could do something to counter this talk.

We are thrilled to see that an Arts & Crafts show is being promoted locally. The event is set for March 4, in the Elementary school, with proceeds going to the Rescue Squad. We urge your support to both the Rescue Squad and the idea of an Arts & Crafts show in Elba.

We have heard several proposals for financing courthouses, schools and hospitals recently. Today there is a bunch of support for "going wet" and taxing the stew out of the spirits.

Richard Kelley Cited In Navy

Richard Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kelley of Elba, was recently awarded a letter of commendation for outstanding performance of duty on the USS Forrestal Aircraft Carrier.

Q. I don't understand what is meant when people say we need both organic and inorganic substances in our food. Can you explain?
A. Both organic and inorganic substances are required for our bodies. The proteins, carbohydrates, fats, and vitamins present in foods constitute the organic group. Mineral elements, such as calcium and phosphorus, are the inorganic group. All are called nutrients. Eating a wide variety of foods each day helps you get all these.

Q. Why is milk recommended so highly in the diet? What does it actually do for an adult?
A. Milk contains a wide variety of the essential nutrients needed for good health. As such, it is one of the most useful foods you can add to your diet. Two glasses a day give an adult almost a third of the protein recommended. It also contains the calcium, half the riboflavin, and many other essential nutrients.

Q. Do you have any statistics on the increase in American eating meals away from home?
A. Eating out is becoming more and more popular and in many instances, necessary. Recent market survey figures show that in an 8-week period the percentage of families that eat out at least once a week has risen to 85%.

Q. Do you have any figures on how much water each person needs to drink?
A. I've heard it's a lot, especially if you include the water used to grow our food.

Q. You're right. And here are two statistics to prove it. It takes 115 gallons of water to grow enough wheat to make one loaf of bread. And the average person in the United States uses such a lot of water during his lifetime. Some facts are staggering, but serve to remind us of the need to conserve water and to live our daily lives.

Q. What gets us carbohydrates besides giving us energy?
A. Besides providing energy, carbohydrates add enjoyment to our meals because of the flavors they offer. The sweetest of sugars makes many foods more palatable. And there are foods that are sweetened by their own sugars. For example, young peas and corn, and other vegetables, are sweeter tasting than older, riper plant foods that contain little sugar.

Q. What gets us carbohydrates besides giving us energy?
A. Besides providing energy, carbohydrates add enjoyment to our meals because of the flavors they offer. The sweetest of sugars makes many foods more palatable. And there are foods that are sweetened by their own sugars. For example, young peas and corn, and other vegetables, are sweeter tasting than older, riper plant foods that contain little sugar.

Former Public Relations Director
Central Alabama Regional Alcoholism Council

Many times in my job I am asked, "What kind of person becomes an alcoholic?" or "How old do you have to be to be alcoholic?" or "What does one look like?" My answer is always the same. There is no answer. Anybody, old or young, pretty or ugly, rich or poor can become an alcoholic.

Dependence on alcohol can start any time in life and anywhere. It can begin in a private prep school in Virginia or in a dirty shared kitchen in the ghetto of Chicago. You can be sixteen years old or sixty (if you live that long). You can be a suburban housewife, an aircraft mechanic, a physician, an entertainer, an anyone you name it. Alcohol, like death and taxes, is the great leveler.

Socially, it is very easy to become an alcoholic today. The way of life in America is drinking. At party, prom, luncheon, dinner or dance the first thing thrust upon you is a drink. If you want approval before you run, you drink. No one wants to associate with a "square." So you drink. If you take a client out to dinner, you drink with him. If you are a woman, it is so gauche to serve coffee when the bridge club comes. After a golf match, head for the bar. What are you going to do, go right home? And, if you live alone, you're entitled to a drink after a hard day, if you don't live alone, you're entitled to relax with your husband or wife.

If you are trying to make today's "scene" you are a sitting duck for the disease of alcoholism. Not everyone contracts it, of course, but

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the recent loss of our mother, Mrs. Marie Yates, THIS FAMILY 2-22-17P

Well, the high school basketball season is entering the home stretch, and all the local teams are finding themselves only 3 or 4 wins away from a state tournament berth. There are tournaments going on all over the state, but two of the best are in Coffee County. Up in Zion Chapel they've got the top Class A tourney around, while over in New Brockton is a real Class 2A shoot-out.

If you want to see some mighty fine basketball, make your plans now to attend a tourney next week.

The Elba Tigers have been winning lately and it's a result of hard work, both from the players and the coach. Elba's players have hustled all year, in practice and in the games, and as they gained experience, the wins started coming. When you have an 0-14 record, it's easy to just throw in the towel and let your boys to run-and-gun and get the season over with. However, Coach Kirkland refused to believe his team couldn't win, and he kept working, and right now he's got a good club. I think we've got one of the top, young coaches in the state, and under his guidance, I'm sure better days are ahead for the basketball program at Elba High.

This will mark the final week of the Polish Prep Poll and the final standings should be an indication as to how well the teams will do in the tourney. Well, maybe . . .

CLASS 4A

CLASS 3A
1. Eufula
2. Troy
3. Ashford
4. Evergreen

CLASS 2A
1. Hartford
2. Headland
3. Abbeville
4. Laverne
5. New Brockton

CLASS A
1. Rebecca Comer
2. Kingston
3. Brantley
4. Clio
5. Wicksburg

I haven't used my crystal ball in quite a while, but I plugged it in last night and discovered it was busy picking area tournament winners. The dust on the ball was pretty thick, but I think it showed: Class 3A, Area 3 - Troy; Class 3A, Area 4 - Eufula; Class 2A, Area 3 - New Brockton; Class 2A, Area 4 - Abbeville; Class A, Area 3 - Brantley; Class A, Area 4 - Wicksburg, and Class A, Area 5 - Rebecca Comer. I'll dust off the ball before next week and make sure I read it right.

Till then . . .

New Brockton Shocks
Northview 77-74

The New Brockton Gamecocks pulled a stunning upset last week by edging the Northview Cougars 77-74, in a game played at New Brockton.

The win upped the Gamecocks' record to 13-11, while the loss dropped Northview to 15-10.

Northview came out in a man-to-man defense, but the Gamecocks slowed the pace and worked for good shots as they led 14-4 after one quarter of play. The Cougars began to take charge of the game in the second quarter, and outscored New Brockton 23-16 to take a 31-30 halftime lead.

New Brockton played a patient offense in the second half and took only one shot outside of 10 feet as they connected on an amazing 18 of 22 shots from the floor. The Gamecocks converted on

Tigers Rip Daleville 79-70

The Elba Tigers won their fourth game of the season last Wednesday night by claiming an impressive 79-70 victory over the Daleville Warhawks.

The opening stanza was a high-scoring affair, with both clubs burning the nets. After one period, Elba held a slim 24-22 lead. The Tigers came out pressing in the second quarter and stunned Daleville by running away to a 42-24 lead midway through the stanza. However, Elba's shooting touch suddenly went "ice cold," and the Warhawks crept back to pull within 44-36 at the half. Elba couldn't find the range in the third quarter, but the Tigers played a sticky defense, and going into the fourth quarter, still clung to a 53-47 advantage. Daleville's offense got rolling in the final stanza, but Elba was off and running and the Tigers never slowed down in climbing the win, 79-70. Russ Wood poured in 25 points to lead Elba, while teammates Perry Fuller and Don Horstead added 13 and 10 points, respectively. Ricky Corbett scored 20 points for Daleville.

PEANUT ROTATION

I often hear the question asked, "What is the best crop to rotate with peanuts?" This is an extremely important question, and I am glad to see many farmers are asking it. Since peanuts are a main money-making row crop in Coffee County, we need to use every bit of technology we know to produce the highest yield.

Some research done at the Wiregrass Substation in Headland shows you can expect about a 1.5% yield increase following a two-year Bahia grass sod. It also pointed out that a longer rotation with Bahiagrass would increase the benefits even more.

Corn has been our standard crop to rotate with, but grain sorghum can also be used in the rotation. You should fertilize the crop just ahead of peanuts for the peanut crop. This has proven to be a beneficial practice.

The increased production of soybeans, the question always arises, "Can you rotate peanuts and soybeans?" This is not a recommended practice. Some of the same diseases and insects that affect soybeans will also attack peanuts. This rotation should be avoided if at all possible.

If you must follow soybeans with peanuts, be prepared to do an extensive long distance and nematode control. PRUNING Proper pruning is one of the most neglected of all garden management practices. Proper pruning keeps plants at the right size and very actively growing. Evergreen plants and trees need to be pruned in late winter. Spring flowering plants such as azaleas should be pruned after they are through blooming.

Some techniques in pruning would be to first remove all diseased and dead limbs from the plant. Then if you need to reduce the height of a plant, stagger your pruning cuts from the ground level up through the plant with the idea of keeping the natural shape of the plant. Remember new growth begins at the pruning cut. On plants such as nandinas prune one-third of the old stalks or canes each year at the ground level. This will keep the plant from becoming leggy.

Follow these tips for pruning: (1) Remove all dead, diseased and other undesirable wood. (2) Prune annually to maintain a manageable size. (3) Prune to regenerate old plants which no longer flower and fruit. (4) Prune plants which interfere with the safety features in landscape development. (5) Always prune about 40-50% of the top of the plant when you are transplanting. (6) Maintain a natural form of each type of plant to insure that the plant character is not destroyed.

TIFTON 44 BERMUDAGRASS Tifton 44 is a new Bermudagrass variety that was released by Georgia in the spring of 1978. This grass is not a mix grass, but it does give some advantages. (1) It has greater cold tolerance than Coastal. (2) It has a higher forage digestibility.

I have had inquiries on how to obtain Tifton 44 sprigs. Donald Ball, our specialist, says that there are two ways we can get sprigs. One would be to become a certified producer through the Alabama Crop Improvement Association. The other way is to purchase sprigs from the 20 producers who got some sprigs last year to plant on their farms.

Set - Aside , Division Program Important

On February 15, the Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Legins accepting applications for the 1979 wheat, grain program. Robert English, Chairman of the ASCS committee, said the program gives farmers the opportunity to adjust their grain production and increase the price they will get for it.

"The importance of farmers using the program cannot be over-emphasized," English said. "Strong participation is necessary to begin balancing supply with demand so that the market will pay a profitable price. Producers need to participate to reduce the ending stocks of grain and strengthen the market."

The ASCS official said, "Farmers cannot look at the program solely in terms of immediate cash. They should also take a longer-range view. This is the only way we can bring long-term adjustment in grain."

Producers who sign up agree to take out of production one acre for every ten planted in 1979 to corn and sorghum. Two acres of every ten planted to wheat and barley for grain; and reduce the normal crop acreage by one acre for every ten planted to sorghum and sorghum. English said the target price has been increased by 10 cents to $2.20 a bushel for corn.

Program benefits include price support loans on all eligible commodities produced, deficiency and disaster payments for barley, corn, sorghum, wheat and upland cotton on the participating farm. "The program is voluntary," English said; "however, farmers must file their intentions to participate during the sign-up period to be eligible for program benefits."

DEAR DIARY

I am writing now to let you know what kind of day I had today. As usual, I got to school late. Luckily, Mrs. McCollough was busy and didn't see me sneak in. On my way to first period, I dropped my books and smushed my lunch. You should have seen how yucky smushed lunch looks all over the floor.

Anyway, it was only an accident. Second period I ran an errand for my teacher. Well, I was in a hurry - and how was I to know that Mr. Foley was coming around the corner at the same time I was? But he's okay. It was just a sprained ankle - nothing broken.

Everything was calm until lunch. Well, you know I smushed mine all over the floor, so I decided to go to the D.Q. Who do you think was waiting at the gate when I came back to check for passes? Mr. Powell, alright. Of course I didn't have one.

Well, Diary, there you have a complete rundown of my day at EHS. All in all, it was a pretty swell day. Don't you agree that I stayed pretty much out of trouble? I gotta go now - Coach Hudson says our chemistry class is working in the lab tomorrow...
